How to get the most out of Friend of the Court

Every Friend of the Court (FOC) is a little different, but overall the mission is the same – to look out for the best interests of the children in the court system. I'm going to give some pointers on how you can get the most out of your FOC case managers and staff.

Most FOCs assign specified workers based on the last name of one of the parties – two common methods include assigning by the father's last name or by the payer's last name. By doing this, it allows parties and staff to
